The surface is constructed by means of a separate program. Via control panel, the space orientation of the object and its coloring can be changed. Both the surface and its level lines are shown.